Harmony is now part of the Ingram Micro family and fully integrated with IM Online and Ingram Micro Cloud Marketplace. This means you can now choose to use the PSA software you've come to know and love to resell anything from Ingram Micro—hardware, software and cloud solutions—and make your profit soar. And that's something you can love even more.

What's changing:

Best of all, you can choose to track anything you procure from Ingram Micro inside HarmonyPSA. And we've expanded the customer support you currently receive to 24/7. Currently, we're working on new messaging and an updated website. So, you'll soon notice some minor updates to the Harmony logo and brand.

What's not changing:

Our commitment to delivering a comprehensive digital platform that manages any type of professional service and makes your business easier to run.

As a special thank-you for being a valued Harmony customer—and a new Ingram Micro customer—we'd like to send you our latest Harmony swag to celebrate this new journey together.

To learn how you can now use HarmonyPSA to streamline purchasing from Ingram Micro to expand your offerings and drive more revenue, opt in today to receive Ingram Micro and Harmony communications.
